

The Daily Courant.

Saturday, March 2. 1706.

From the Amsterdam Gazette, dated March 2.

Ratisbon, Feb. 22.

Count Lewenstain, the Emperor's chief Administrator of the Electorate of Bavaria, is shortly expected at Donawert from Munich, to receive Homage of that Town in the Name of his Imperial Majesty. The Imperialists raise very great Contributions in Bavaria and the upper Palatinate, which will bring considerable Sums of Money into the Emperor's Coffers, for the Charge of the War. It being discover'd that the Enemy use their best Endeavours underhand to excite a new Insurrection in Bavaria, the Emperor has sent Order for disarming all the Peasants; and accordingly they have been summon'd to carry in their Arms, either to Munich, Ingolstadt, Straubingen, or Burghausen.

From the Leiden Gazette, dated March 4.

Munich, Feb. 25. This Electorate is charg'd with a new Tax of 50000 Rations, at 5 Rixdollars each; for maintaining the Imperial Troops that are in it. The Magistrates of Burghausen are displac'd, and Count Harword is made Administrator of that Town. Process is making out against the Persons chiefly concern'd in the late Revolt.

From the Amsterdam Courant, dated March 4.

Ratisbon, Feb. 22. The Persons who have the Administration of the Government of Bavaria for the Emperor, have laid a Tax of 50000 Rations on the Estates of that Country; and the Inhabitants being in no Condition to pay that Tax, a new Commotion may be apprehended in Case the Imperialists attempt to extort it from them by Military Execution. A great Number of Men in Bavaria, not knowing to what to betake themselves at present for a Livelihood, the Imperialists endeavour to get them to take on in their Service.

From the Harlem Courant, dated March 2.

Ratisbon, Feb. 22. Yesterday M. Wienzierl, a Domestick Servant of the Count of Maxelrain, who was seiz'd and imprison'd here some Weeks ago, was carry'd from hence under a Guard of 14 Cuirassiers to Ingolstadt or Munich: He is accus'd of having headed the body of Rebels that attempted to surprize Munich. The Butcher Kraus, who surpriz'd Kelheim, and was afterwards made Prisoner in it, will be beheaded and quarter'd there this Week. Muller, the Priest, who commanded the Rebels that took Chamb in the upper Palatinate, will, out of respect to his Sacredotal Character escape being punish'd with Death, and be condemn'd to perpetual Imprisonment. On Friday last in the Evening, a Person was seiz'd here by Order of our Magistrates, at the Request of the Emperor's Plenipotentiaries, who had Information given them that he had brought Letters from Brussels tending to incite a new Commotion in Bavaria.

From the Brussels Gazette, dated March 2.

Dresden, Feb. 18. Colonel Bose who arriv'd at Leipsh the 15th, brought the first News of the total Defeat of our Army in great Poland by general Reinschild: That Colonel had 2 Horses kill'd under him, and had much ado to escape on a 3d. Several Officers are since arriv'd, who escap'd out of the Battle and give different Relations of it; but they all agree that the Foot being furrounded by the Swedes, were almost all kill'd or taken Prisoners, so that it was a second Hochstet Battle. The general Contention throughout this Electorate is inexorable; we being extremely apprehensive the Enemy will make an Irruption into it.

From the Leiden Gazette, dated March 4.

Letters from Cadix of the 2d of February advise, that they were busy in shipping Goods upon the Gallies and the Flota for the West Indies; but that their departure was uncertain, though it was expected they would Sail by the 4th of March. On the 1st of February 3 Frigates Sail'd from Cadix, with 16 Barks under their Convoy having on board 300 Soldiers and Ammunition of all sorts for Contrabando. That they had a Confirmation of the great Loss the Moors before that Place receiv'd in a Battle made by the Garrison the 16th of January: And that that Siege was now withstanding continued with Vigour. These Letters add, that some Troops which some Days before drew off from the Coast of Andalusia, continued their March with all possible Expedition towards Estramadura, where a Body of Forces was drawing together to make Head against the Portuguese, who threaten'd to make an Irruption.

London, March 2.

The Hallifax, Captain Brooks Commander, arriv'd from Lisbon, brings the following Advice.

Lisbon, Feb. 15. N. S. "My Lord Galway is gone from hence to the Army, which is drawn together near Elvas, in order to make a powerful Diversion."

Diverſion. Upon the Arrival of ſeveral Priſoners from Cadiz; 2 Cruizers were immediately ſent out to that Bay; and the Fleet under Sir John Leake has been got ready with the utmoſt Diligence, and is now ready to Sail, waiting only for Proviſions.

Lisbon, Feb. 15. N. S. The Convoy from England, which Sail'd the beginning of January from Portſmouth is arriv'd here. Sir John Leake's Squadron has been fitted out with extraordinary Diligence, and has been ſome Days ready to put to Sea; but waits for the Arrival of the Ships from England with Proviſions. The Pembroke has brought in hither a French Privateer of 24 Guns.

The beginning of this Week we had Advice of the Arrival of the Marlborough at Dartmouth from Jamaica: That Ship brought Letters dated the 12th of December, adviſing that the Pacquet Boat which was miſſing here from the Weſt Indies, was arriv'd at Jamaica. By a Mail from Ireland that arriv'd Yesterday, Advice is come that a Brigantine is arriv'd in Ireland, which came from Jamaica the 29th of December, and reports, that the ſaid Pacquet Boat ſail'd from Jamaica the 18th.
